Freshman 4-Year Graduation Goal

CSUDH is making moderate progress toward its 2025 goal that 31% of all freshmen graduate within 4 years.

Four-year graduation rates for the freshman cohort beginning in 2012 were among the highest in CSUDH’s history. The preliminary 4-year graduation rate for the 2014 cohort (11.5%), while higher still, is lower than the interim benchmark (14.4%) created by drawing a straight-line projection from the 2012 graduation rate to the 2025 goal (see dashboard chart below).

The fact that there is a 2.9 percentage point difference between CSUDH’s current 4-year freshman graduation rate and its interim target, demonstrates that the university is making moderate progress toward its goal.
