In this workshop students will learn how to manage imposter symptoms and build personal confidence in their abilities. This workshop was designed with underrepresented students and first-generation students in mind, but all students are welcome!