Dedication
Dave Arian (1947 - 2019)

Dave was a leader in the global labor movement, fighting from the rank and file of the International Longshore and Warehouse Union as well as President of the Local 13 and then International President. He was a community activist, organizing around housing, ending war, and promoting working class culture. He was a founder of the Harry Bridges Institute, and a key member of the Harbor Commission. He loved his family, friends, community, union, and left a legacy of activism and joy that lives on through all of the people he touched with his spirit.

Labor Studies is proud to be the anchor for the annual fair. CSUDH is the only 4 year CSU in Southern California where a student can major in Labor Studies. Our graduates go on to work in unions, worker centers, community organizations, in human resources, as social workers, and in public administration and negotiation, peace and conflict resolution. They go to law school and fight for workers rights, freedom of speech and environmental, racial and gender justice.
