Thank you for choosing the MA in Psychology Program at CSUDH!

Note: Admission into programs leading to licensure and credentialing does not guarantee that students will obtain a license or credential. Licensure and credentialing requirements are set by agencies that are not controlled by or affiliated with the CSU and requirements can change at any time. For example, licensure or credentialing requirements can include evidence of the right to work in the United States (e.g., social security number or tax-payer identification number) or successfully passing a criminal background check. Students are responsible for determining whether they can meet licensure or credentialing requirements. The CSU will not refund tuition, fees, or any associated costs, to students who determine subsequent to admission that they cannot meet licensure or credentialing requirements. Information concerning licensure and credentialing requirements are available from Karen Carpenter, 1000 E Victoria St, Carson, CA 90747 310-243-3353

Master of Arts in Psychology

At CSUDH, we offer two tracks for our MA in Psychology – Clinical and Health. Both options provide students with a solid academic background by giving them an opportunity to complete advanced coursework and further develop their research skills by working closely with a faculty mentor on a research project or thesis. A wide variety of practicum sites are available for students to learn about direct service provision to clients, employees, and patients for students pursuing the clinical psychology option. The MA in Psychology program is designed for students who want to strengthen their academic record in preparation for applying to doctoral programs. Others choose to begin careers in industry, mental health, community agency and education settings.

Health Psychology Option (MAHP)

The Health Psychology Option will provide students with a solid academic background in health psychology. This specialized track is designed to meet the professional needs of college graduates who plan careers in community health and other health care settings such as rehabilitation centers, primary care centers and hospices. In addition, students enrolled in the Health Psychology Option will learn how to promote wellness in individuals and within organizations, and how to evaluate the effectiveness of prevention and treatment programs. The goal of concentrated study in health psychology is to provide the student with an understanding of the relationships among biological, psychological, and social factors as they interact to influence mental and physical health. This goal is accomplished through an integrated program of coursework and research training. Students can earn up to 3 units of credit per semester for directed research (PSY 598) and thesis research (PSY 599). Our graduate students have been very successful securing funding for their graduate studies through several opportunities at California State University, Dominguez: Graduate Studies and Research travel fellowships, Graduate Equity Fellowship, PEGS RA/TA fellowships, and PEGS travel fellowships.

In the Psychology M.A. (Health Psychology track) the student is required to complete 36 units of credit. In addition, the student must successfully complete a thesis.

Admission Application Deadline is February 1st at 5:00PM PST. Any application after this deadline will not be considered.

Prospective students should use The Cal State Apply Application to apply to either the Clinical or Health Psychology option. Students must apply on or before February 1st to be considered for admission. Due to processing times, we strongly recommend that you complete your Cal State Apply application and submit official transcripts at least four weeks in advance of the department's February 1st application deadline.

REQUIRED MATERIALS

All materials must be uploaded and submitted to Cal State Apply by February 1st

- Personal Statement
All applicants are expected to provide a personal statement. This statement should cover the following topics:
 1. Present area(s) of interest in Psychology
 2. Past research and/or other relevant experience
 3. Strengths and weaknesses in your preparation for graduate-level work
 4. Career and educational goals
 - If applicable to the individual student, optional discussion points also include why you want to become a health psychologist and whether you have any special skills for working with specific populations.
 - Given that health psychology applicants are required to complete an empirical thesis as a culminating experience, please identify CSUDH faculty whom you would be interested in doing research with.
<https://www.csudh.edu/psychology/faculty-staff/faculty-research-labs/>
- CV/Resume
 - The CV/Resume should document relevant academic experiences as well as work and research experience.
- Unofficial Transcripts of all institutions previously attend
 - In the "Documents" tab, you will be asked to submit unofficial transcripts. Please note that this is labeled as "optional", however, it is highly recommended that you upload your unofficial transcripts of all institutions attended. Transcripts must reflect grades earned through the Fall 2022 term. Failure to submit unofficial transcripts within the "Documents" tab of this application will greatly delay review of your application.

- Please submit one PDF file containing all unofficial transcripts from all institutions attended. This PDF file can include more than one institution.
- Unofficial Copy or Graduate Record Examinations Scores (Not Required but Optional for Fall 2023 Admission)
 - Due to COVID19, students submitting applications to our MA Psychology Graduate Program for the Fall 2023 will not be required to take the GRE or submit a score report. Students who would like to submit GRE test scores may do so, and these will be reviewed as part of their application package. However, it should be noted that applications including GRE scores will not be weighted more heavily than applications that did not include a GRE report.
 - Students may voluntarily upload an official photocopy of their GRE report for Verbal, Quantitative and Analytical Writing portions.
- One Writing Sample
 - Upload a document that reflects your best work in terms of written communication and ability for critical thinking. This written sample does not need to be in psychology and should range approximately between 3-10 pages in length.
- Three Letters of Recommendations (submitted online through Cal State Apply)
 - Master's degree applicants are required to submit a minimum of 3 letters of recommendation with at least two from academic experts (professors) who can speak to the candidate's academic preparation for graduate school and/or aptitude for work or research in health psychology. Additional letters may be included but are not required. All letters must be submitted online via the Cal State Apply Recommendation portal.
 - For each recommender, you will be able to type a personal message which will be included in the email sent to your recommender. Please copy and paste the following message into the "Personal Message/Notes" field for each recommender. You are welcome to include additional information in the message but at a minimum must include the following statement:
 - "Thank you for your willingness to provide a recommendation for CSUDH's MA in Psychology program. Please offer your candid assessment about the candidate's academic preparation for graduate school and/or aptitude for clinical work or research in clinical and health psychology."
 - Once you have saved an electronic recommendation, an email request will automatically be sent to the recommender on your behalf. Please advise your recommender to look for this email in their inbox, as well as their spam or junk mail folder, as emails do occasionally get filtered out.

OFFICIAL TRANSCRIPTS

All official transcripts must be submitted to The Office of Admissions.

Official transcripts from all previously attended institutions must be received at Office of Admissions and posted by the Document Deadline of February 1st in order for your application to be reviewed. Please note that official transcripts submitted must reflect grades earned through the Fall 2022 term and courses "In Progress" for Spring 2023. Transcripts submitted with courses "In Progress" for Fall 2022 will delay review of the application. Electronic official transcripts from domestic institutions are encouraged and preferred.

Classified Standing and Conditionally Classified Standing

Only students who have met all requirements as noted under Admission Procedures - M.A. Programs for the Psychology Department will be considered for admission into the M.A. in Psychology Program with Classified Standing.

Students who lack some of the admission requirements may be considered for admission into the program with Conditionally Classified Standing. This would allow them to enroll in the University to correct their deficiencies, and also permit them to take up to nine semester units of graduate coursework which could apply toward their degree if and when Classified Standing has been established. Please note that admission to Conditionally Classified Standing does not assure that a student will achieve Classified Standing in the program.

Advancement to Candidacy

A student must be advanced to candidacy before enrolling in PSY 599 Thesis (1-3). The requirements for advancement to candidacy are as follows:

1. Classified Standing in the Psychology M.A.
2. Completion of a minimum of 24 semester units of required courses.
3. Completion of the Graduation Writing Assessment Requirement.
4. Approved Program of Study.
